

Peter Savage: Company Secretary

Currently semi-retired, I am now working as a very part time deputy parish clerk and responsible finance officer for my local parish council in Sandgate, near Folkestone and Hythe in Kent.

Prior to that I had a 40 year career in democratic services, mostly in London, including 20 years at Hammersmith and Fulham where I eventually became assistant chief executive. I have always been committed to maintaining the highest standards of independent democratic services and helped develop extended officer roles during the development of cabinet style local government and the associated scrutiny functions.
